Contextualisation

English is the international language of academic study throughout the world. This course aims at providing students who study Arts and Humanities with the necessary strategies and skills to search for, read and analyse academic texts in English that enable them to complete their university studies and progress professionally in their future lives. On the one hand, the course will be designed to help students develop essential research skills, such as being able to autonomously search for general and specific information about a topic, conduct online research, successfully navigate library resources and understand and use academic referencing systems. On the other hand, the course will explore critical reading skills needed to succeed in understanding research and becoming part of the academic community. A wide variety of texts from different disciplines will be analysed including essays, journal articles, reviews, book chapters and interviews. The course will largely consist of practical sessions which will be supported by seminars on theoretical aspects of academic English. Searching and reading skills will be honed through different practical exercises including website searches, text analyses, the study of specific vocabulary groups and analyses of specific structural characteristics and stylistic features of academic written texts. The competences and skills acquired in this course would be fundamental to the study of specific courses in the field of English Studies and all Arts and Humanities courses.

Requirements

Essential

This subject will be taught in English and students will have to read academic texts in this language. Therefore, it is essential for students to have an intermediate level of English (B1) in, at least, listening and reading comprehension. This is the level of English students should have reached at the end of their highschool studies and the one required to pass university access exams. Students who do not have this level of English will find a list of self-study resources in the bibliographical section of this guide and it is their responsibility to reach this level prior to the beginning of the course. Furthermore, the university has a self-study language classroom (C 13) for students to use. For further information check the following link: http://rrhh.uib.es/digitalAssets/137/137294_aulaangl.pdf

Skills

Specific

1. Ability to communicate in English both orally and in writing with fluidity, accuracy and complexity adequate to different contexts and situations.
2. Ability to understand, interpret and analyse academic documents related to the students' field of study.

General

1. Ability to find and deal with information so as to enhance the students' learning process throughout their lives.
2. Ability to critically interpret, analyse, summarise and evaluate information.
3. Ability to autonomously analyse information.
4. Ability to relate and integrate information from different sources and disciplines and apply them for practical purposes.

Content

Thematic content

INTRODUCTION. Academic English

To introduce students to the formal features of academic English.

PART ONE. Getting Started

Unit 1. What is a text?

- * Text parts
- * Text types

 - * Revising connectors, academic vocabulary and grammar
- Unit 2. Summarising

- * Diagrams
- * Paraphrasing
- * Taking notes
- * Revising connectors, academic vocabulary and grammar

PART THREE. Analysing academic texts

Unit 1. Analysing academic style

- * Basic parts of academic texts: introductions and conclusions
 - * Understanding definitions
 - * The research paper
 - * Giving solid evidence
 - * Revising connectors, academic vocabulary and grammar
- Unit 2. Analysing academic texts

- * The abstract
- * The article
- * The critical review
- * The interview
- * Revising connectors, academic vocabulary and grammar

Teaching methodology

Both the practical assessment TWO and the final test must be passed with a 5 for the student to get a pass in the subject.

IMPORTANT NOTE: Mobile phones and other electronic devices are NOT allowed in the classroom. Laptop computers are acceptable ONLY if used for purposes related to classroom activity. No electronic device whatsoever (including computers) is allowed in the classroom during exams/practical sessions, unless otherwise specified by the lecturer (e.g. if the practical session entails use of the internet for pedagogical purposes).

At the beginning of the semester the subject schedule will be available to students through the UIB digital platform. This schedule will at least include the dates for the continuous assessment exams and assignment deadlines. Furthermore, the lecturer will inform students as to whether the subject syllabus will be carried out according to the schedule or otherwise, including Campus Extens.

Student learning assessment

Students will be continuously assessed throughout the course and for this purpose attendance is compulsory to two sessions (the dates of these sessions will be specified in the course timetable). These sessions will include the following assessments:

- 1. Practical assessment ONE: real or simulated task performance test on students' ability to show their reading skills. Its mark will count 20% towards the subject final mark. This practical assessment CANNOT be resat in the final exam.
- 2. Practical assessment TWO: analysis and study of academic texts, real or simulated task performance test on the students' ability to reflect on comprehension and textual analytical skills. Its mark will count 30% towards the subject final mark. This practical assessment CAN be resat in the final exam.
- 3. Final exam. Its mark will count 50% towards the subject final mark. The exam will be different for students who have passed assessment TWO during the course and those who have not and have to resit it:

* The exam for those students who pass the practical assessment TWO will only have one part consisting on a short-answer test on theoretical and practical contents studied throughout the course.

* The exam for those students who have not passed the practical assessment TWO during the course will have two parts: one part consisting on a short-answer test (the same as those students who have passed assessment TWO during the course) and another part in which they will have to demonstrate the same skills tested in the practical assessment TWO.

Please, note that students will be able to resit the practical assessment TWO. However, the practical assessment ONE cannot be resat in the final exam. This entails that students who fail or do not attend this session will only be able to obtain 80% of the subject's overall mark.

If a student fails to hand in an assignment or to show up on the day and at the time established by the lecturer for the different assessments/practical sessions or tests, the grade for that assignment/assessment/practical session/test will be a 0 (zero). The dates and times of the different assessments/practical sessions/tests will not be altered UNDER ANY CIRCUMSTANCES (this entails that this assessments will not be repeated under any circumstances) except those contemplated by the Reglament Acadèmic (when two UIB official exams coincide on the same day with a time difference of under three hours between them). Students will not be allowed into the classroom when the practical session or test has already started.

REMEMBER: Article 32 in the Reglament Acadèmic will be applied in cases of cheating, plagiarism, cyberplagiarism or any other fraudulent practice in the process of assessment :

"Amb independència del procediment disciplinari que es pugui seguir contra l'estudiant infractor, la realització demostradament fraudulenta d'alguna de les activitats d'avaluació incloses en l'avaluació d'alguna assignatura comportarà, segon les circumstancies, una menysvaloració en la seva qualificació que, en els casos més greus, pot arribar a la qualificació de "suspens" (0,0) a la convocatòria anual. En particular, es considera un frau la inclusió en un treball de fragments d'obres alienes presentats de tal manera que es facin passar com a propis de l'estudiant."
